Create.MSG files with custom fields. Create.MSG files with searchable custom fields. Index your.MSG files with custom fields and automatically create.MSG files with custom fields. Index your.MSG files with searchable custom fields and automatically create.MSG files with searchable custom fields. When you search, Windows Desktop Search will display all matches from the files that include any of the search terms, including any custom fields you have created. This is very cool when trying to look for a particular contact's name from an existing.MSG file and has other applications such as zooming into a contact to see all related information that you might need to know.
