small as one-man operations, to as large as multi-million dollar complexes and organizations. In the World of Pokémon, Torchic is a Grass/Fire type Pokémon and is a member of the starter trio. They were first introduced in the 2000 sequel movie Pokémon: Jirachi Wish Maker.

Contents Appearance Torchic are very small Pokémon with a round body and head. They have spiked red and white fur that covers their entire bodies except for their faces. They also have a red nose and mouth. They have a spiky tail that they use for locomotion. Tail Torchic is normally depicted with a large, spiky tail. This may be called a hackle, a feather, or a plume. It is longer than the rest of their body. In Pokémon Let's Go Pikachu and Let's Go Eevee (2020), the large, spiky tail is gone. Etymology Torchic is a generic name derived from the fictional item, a standard issue of the U.S. Army in the Vietnam War. The standard-issue hatches into a lighter source of flame when worn by soldiers, and the name is thus used to describe a type of small Pokémon. Behavior Torchic have a special song that they sing to communicate with the trainer they are in good spirits or to ask for guidance. Because of their small size, Torchic are compatible with the C-Gear's Carapace Gear. In Pokémon GO, Torchic have the ability Activated Ability, which allows them to use the Activated Ability ability. Games In the Main series Games Pokémon Series Base Form Torchic's base form, the Torchic

Pokémon. The Torchic Pokémon are a group of Pokémon that debuted in Pokémon: Jirachi Wish Maker. They were first introduced to the anime series as the first
